
Is gender an act for you?

Posted by headfullofroses - 2007/07/08 02:14

How much do you play with your "gender"? I tend to gender-blend alot. I even dress in drag sometimes just to rebel, let me just say I make a beautiful woman. ;)

Do you think gender is an act? How do you play with gender?

Let me know, I'd love to hear everyone's opinion.

=====

Re:Is gender an act for you?

Posted by MaxwellxMurders - 2007/07/09 22:30

How do I play with gender?

Gender could be an act. I have no clue really what it would be. I act all the time in order to hide. Mwahaha. But yeah.

I just believe that Gender isn't really classified by genetalia, but how you feel. I have woman genetalia but I feel male.

=====

Re:Is gender an act for you?

Posted by Ayerea - 2007/08/08 09:01

its def not an act for me.

when i dress as i should (as a girl) its what makes me feel right.

and acting like a girl is just natural to me.

really my everyday life is the game. "Pretend to be the boy tell your out of high school" game

=====

Re:Is gender an act for you?

Posted by Tomomoomo - 2007/12/21 04:36

I am a female, but I like to dress in male clothing.

It's not that I want to be male, but I feel right being a girl in men's clothing.

=====

Re:Is gender an act for you?

Posted by LaVieBoheme - 2008/03/05 08:24

I'm female, but I dress and look male. I don't always act like a guy but in some ways I just naturally do. It feels more normal and self-satisfying to me. I can't stand wearing girls clothes at all because they are usually tight or fit weird. I don't really wish I was a guy, I just act and feel masculine, especially compared to the girls I know and that are my friends. I'm sort of unsure how to explain it right. I just know that since I was a little kid I've always been more a guy than a girl.

=====